

CLAIMS

1. A method of instrumenting a method of a class by modifying bytecodes, comprising:
5 providing an interface, by which the method can be selected;
inserting bytecodes that will be executed when the selected method is called; and providing an interface, through the inserted bytecodes can pass information about the method.